

Comparing the Parrot 9200 with Bury 9060

This table compares the Parrot 9200 with the Bury 9060 hands free car kits. The Parrot MKi 9200 benefits from music lead input (plug-in and charge your iPhone/iPod), with practical and easy to use separate remote control. Main features of the Bury are the superb quality touchscreen with all-in-one system.

Parrot 9200

Bury 9060

| Compare Parrot MKi 9200 with Bury 9060 | | |
|---|---|--|
| | MKi9200 | Bury 9060 |
| Touchscreen | No | Yes |
| Screen size | 2.4in | 2.8in |
| Screen dimensions | 32 x 82 x 12mm | 85 x 58 x 22mm |
| Screen quality | High Resolution TFT Colour Screen - shows album covers | 240x320 pixel QVGA TFT 65000 Colours |
| All-in-one device | No | Yes |
| Separate remote | Yes | No |
| Remote dimensions | 35 x 50 x 20mm deep, inc button | - |
| Multipoint (Dual Phone) | Yes | Yes |
| Voice control | Possibly | Possibly |
| Music lead input | iPod, USB, 3.5mm | No (however Bury Music has iPod input lead) |
| Automatic phone book sync | Yes | Yes |
| Audible menus | Yes | Yes |
| Capacity | Up to 10 phones, up to 8000 contacts, 2000 per paired phone | Up to 10 phones, up to 15000 contacts, 1500 per paired phone |
| Default pairing pin code | '0000' | '1234' |
| Updates | Yes | Yes |
| Easy to install updates | Yes | Not really |

Page last updated April 2012

© DragonCarAudio.co.uk - Permission given for forums and forum posts to link to this page.